

I bought the xm service for many reasons, one of them is the fact that they were adding local traffic and weather for my location. I think it's ridiculous to think that the satellite radio providers should be limited in the services that they provide their client's because the NAB thinks it owns that service.